HERO OF PEA RIDGE DIES AT AGE OF 80

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Major General Eugene A. Carr, a distinguished retired officer of the United States army, died here today from a complication of diseases. General Carr was born in Erie county, New York, in 1830. For gallantry at the battle of Pea Ridge he was awarded a congressional medal of honor.

WEALTHY AND AGED WIDOW IS MURDERED FOR MONEY

SISTERVILLE, W. Va., Dec. 2.—Mrs. Elizabeth Allen, aged 87 years, a wealthy widow, was found dead today in her home in Shirley, near here. A large sum of money which she had in the house is missing, and the coroner is of the opinion that she was strangled. Mrs. Allen lived alone. In a house, twenty feet away, her son John is dying from consumption.

GREAT BILL AT THE ORPHEUM TOMORROW

There seems to be no end to the great shows which are being presented at the Orpheum this season, and the indications are that they will still continue to come. Tomorrow's new bill promises to even exceed its predecessors, and will prove to be a great treat for the Orpheum's patrons.

"Uncle Lem's Dilemma," a pastoral comedy sketch, will be the leading feature of the bill. This delightful little playlet is presented by Henry Horton, who lately starred Eben Holden. He is ably assisted by Miss Louise Hardenbergh and company. The little "skit" telling of how a New York state farmer got into and out of a much opposed love affair, is unusually bright and witty. Mr. Horton is a good actor and the quaint character of Uncle Lem could not have been better adapted to his abilities.

Clavin and Mitchell will appear in their laughable skit, The Land Agent, which will please all those who have ever been interested in suburban real estate. The act consists of bright dialogue during which the clever "land agent" tries to interest a prospective buyer in an outlying territory, where to use their own words, "there should be bought by the gallon and not by the acre." The idea was suggested by the recent land scandal near New York, where lots were sold from a map chart, but when the purchasers went to look at their property they found it under water.

The Six Abdallahs is a title which could lead a reader to expect a troupe of Arabian acrobats, but instead it is a sextette of the most agile and expert American athletes on the vaudeville stage. All are native tumbler and there never has been imported from foreign hippodromes or circuses a more dextrous six than these. Their performance is sure to enliven next week's bill here.

An act that will appeal to all Orpheum patrons and especially those who love good music and singing, is that of the "Bestyette Trio," consisting of Messrs. Hess, Monroe and Powell. Their act is of the high class order, one that usually captivates the audience from the first. With the aid of the piano, guitar and cello, and excellent voices, their offering will make one of the hits of the bill.

It is an easy matter to classify the Kauffman Brothers, black face comedians, as among the foremost of their class. Their performance is made in bang-bang con-shouter style that causes bewilderment to fall upon all hearers. The scene is laid in rapid fire humor that would win response from a vinegar barrel. These brothers have excellent voices, but are too full of monkey-shines to take time to sing properly.

A decided novelty is the offering of Wheeler Earl and Vera Curtis, in a brand new comedy and singing skit, "Innocents Abroad," which they call a "chatty duologue." The scene is laid in Paris on the banks of the Seine. Mr. Earl is a snappy American tourist and Miss Curtis is an heiress traveling with her aunt. Snappy tourist flirts with pretty heiress and they joke and dispense wit to the delight of the crowd. Their offering includes a number of original songs and amusing ditties as encores.

The new motion pictures, together with an excellent musical program, will complete the bill. Matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

JOSEPH E. STONE.

The funeral of the late Joseph Earl Stone, whose death occurred on November 29th, will be held Sunday with services at the Episcopal church at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. Fleetwood in charge. The Woodmen of the World will attend the funeral in a body, conducting a short service at the home and the burial ritual at the grave.

The remains will lie in state at the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stone, 931 Twenty-first street, this afternoon and evening and Sunday until noon. Interment will take place in the Ogden city cemetery.

MRT. CHARLOTTE ANDERSON.

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Charlotte Anderson, wife of Eugene Anderson and whose death occurred last Monday, were held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Malad tabernacle. Bishop J. P. Jensen officiated.

There was music by the ward choir and the speakers were Bishop Price, Louis Williams, Ralph Harding, E. A. Larkin and Bishop Jensen. Interment was made in the Malad cemetery.

WHEATLEY GIBSON.

Death claimed another pioneer resident of Weber county yesterday when Wheatley Gibson passed away at his home in West Weber at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Death resulted after a lingering illness from stomach trouble.

He was born in Scotland on February 17, 1834, and for the past 45 years he had been a resident of West Weber. Surviving him are the wife, five sons and six daughters, four brothers and one sister.

The funeral will be held Sunday with services at the West Weber meeting house at 12:30 o'clock. Bishop Geo. Erickson officiating. The remains will lie in state at the family residence this afternoon and tomorrow.

KING GEORGE, DISTILLER.

Although King George is almost a teetotaler, he is the owner of a private distillery which produces excellent Scotch whisky.

The king's distillery is on his Scotch estate of Balmoral. For a long time it was operated commercially by a dealer, but when the lease lapsed to the crown, Queen Victoria continued its operation. Its product was not marketed, but was kept exclusively for the use of the royal family. Queen Victoria was partial to Scotch, and drank it at her lunch.

SUTHERLAND CONSIDERED

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—Progressive senators are gravely considering the advisability of waging war on the nomination of George Sutherland for associate justice of the supreme court, if the nomination is sent to the senate. There is a feeling among the progressives that Senator Sutherland's views, frequently expressed publicly in the senate and elsewhere, on the income tax and other important questions, proves that he is a reactionary.

The progressives declare that this objection is emphasized by powerful corporate interests that have rallied to the support of the senator's candidacy. A western senator, who was asked to go to the president and induce Senator Sutherland for the place, warned Senator Root.

A Sutherland advocate today was informed that he might expect opposition in the senate and probably a filibuster if Sutherland's name was sent in for the office, but the indications are today that President Taft has abandoned whatever thought he may have entertained of nominating the Utah senator.

The president told a caller, who came to urge Senator Sutherland's nomination, that he could not nominate him because it would raise a storm of protest from the women of the country on account of the Mormon question. The president declared that he did not care to meet such an issue.

SHARP WALKER DEAD.

Salt Lake, Dec. 3.—Sharp Walker, one of the best known men of Salt Lake, died suddenly at 7:45 o'clock Friday evening in the Brooks Arcade, Third South and State streets, from heart failure. Aside from a very severe cold, from which he had suffered for a week, Mr. Walker appeared in his usual good health up to a few minutes before his death. He entered the room, seated himself at a table, leaned his head on his hands and expired without a word or sign of suffering. Dr. S. G. Paul, who has offices in the Arcade building, was called upon, but found life extinct.

Of prominent family, Sharp Walker, who was 43 years of age, was the sole surviving son of Mrs. Sharp Walker, widow of the late S. S. Walker, brother of D. F. and M. H. Walker, all of whom for many years have been prominent in banking and mercantile circles in Salt Lake.

A Kentuckian who speaks from experience says it is just as easy to get hilarious on water as it is on land.

SENSATIONAL FIND IN BEAVER COUNTY

Coming with all the glamour of a fairy tale, is the story of success of two leaders on a diminutive fractional claim of nine to ten acres located down in Beaver county. The best thing about this story is that it is true in every particular.

About two months ago two Salt Lake men, George Gould and C. Ballinger, took an 18 months' lease on a fraction like shaped claim wedged in between the King David's mammoth territory and that of the Peacock Copper Consolidated Mining company. The property is owned by L. F. Block, president and general manager of the Peacock company. The fraction property belonged to the King David ground, but in surveying this fractional claim was considered so unimportant that the engineers were instructed to leave it off. When this came to Mr. Block's attention he located it just to keep out interlopers.

While going over the fraction this summer Mr. Block ran onto an inconspicuous little mound of rock. Picking up a piece he was startled by its weight. Cracking it open with his prospecting pick, there sparkled forth rich galena. The whole mound was of the same stuff, all gray and weather marked from exposure to the elements for perhaps 15 or 20 years. He searched the surface near this old mound, which stood beside a scrub tree, but his efforts were unrewarded.

About two months ago Block told George Gould, a green miner who was engaged to do the annual assessment work, of his discovery, and he and Ballinger decided to lease the tract and hunt for the vein from which this mound of ore had been taken. They worked and prospected, and when discouraged and about to give it up in disgust, Mr. Block again appeared on the ground and instructed them to put down a hole near the scrub tree and not far from the contact between the porphyry and the limestone.

A Lucky Pick.
The first pick broke into a bed of glittering galena. Within a few days they had on the dump a small car load of ore and about two weeks ago shipped it to the American Smelter at Salt Lake. It brought $950. Word from there this week is that the boys have another car load ready, which will be shipped today or tomorrow.

The pit from which all this rich ore has been extracted is not over 12 feet deep and about 10x14 feet on the surface. That will be over $3,000 out of this surface pit, and the bottom of the pit is a mass of ore. In addition, there is a mound of 20 tons or more of ore on the dump which is worth $20 to the ton. An analysis of the ore shows it is strong in silver and lead, with 2 to 3 per cent copper. This copper content gives rise to the idea that this may be a permanent body, or overflow from the fissure contact between the lime and the porphyry, this ore having made off into the lime.

JUDGE MORSE GRANTS MANY DIVORCES.

Salt Lake, Dec. 2.—Six interlocutory and five final decrees of divorce were granted by Judge Morse at the regular Friday matinee in the equity division of the Third district court.

The only case which caused the court attendants to take notice was that of Thomas vs. Holmes, in which a decree was pronounced on the ground of cruelty. Mr. and Mrs. Holmes have been married about ten years, she being his second wife.

Mrs. Holmes testified that on September 11 last, after returning from the east, where she had taken a daughter of Mr. Holmes' on a pleasure trip, her husband met her at the depot and told her that she could not return to her home. After this he refused to allow her to enter the house and told her, she testified, that he didn't give a damn what she did.

The testimony was corroborated, and Mrs. Holmes was granted a decree. She also was allowed $2,000 in cash and certain other property, as agreed upon by the attorneys for herself and Holmes.

Interlocutory decrees were granted as follows:
Sophie Brodbeck vs. Adolph Brodbeck, failure to support.
Hattie Stout vs. Brown Stout, desertion.

Harriet W. Hanger vs. David Hanger, failure to support.
Francis M. Smith vs. Mary I. Smith, desertion.

Edward R. Dampier vs. Blanche H. Dampier, desertion.
Final decrees were ordered entered by the court as follows: Mary E. Jensen vs. Hiram N. Jensen; Marie Brunning vs. Henry Brunning; Zina V. Alexander vs. Bird; George F. Troutner vs. Gertrude Carroll Troutner.

This action is brought to secure judgment dissolving the bonds of matrimony now and heretofore existing between plaintiff and defendant.

STRIKE-BREAKER KILLS A STRIKE LEADER

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Walen-pina Rumyskyas, said by the police to have been a slugsger in the garment workers' strike, was killed by Tony Wocullo, a nonunion garment worker, late today.

Who was arrested, declared he was forced to kill Rumyskyas to save himself from being beaten to death.

The fight, in which a dozen men were involved, occurred in the vicinity of State and Harrison streets, and threatened to develop into a riot.

PRISONERS TO ISSUE A NEWSPAPER.

JACKSON, La., Dec. 2.—A decided novelty in the way of newspaper publication is shortly to be introduced at Jackson.

It will be issued by the inmates of the state prison here, it was announced today. The paper will be called the "Bulletin" and will be published "every once in a while."

The fool and his money are soon spotted.

Wise Men and Women Know

that most of the sicknesses of life come from inactive bowels and from unhealthy condition of the organs of digestion. If your digestive system is not working right, your food does not nourish you—poor blood and weakness follow; if your bowels are inactive—waste matter poisons the whole system and serious sickness is sure to follow. To take promptly
